

No Error

About These Problems

Sometimes a sentence will sound completely awkward, but there will be nothing grammatically incorrect about it. In sentence completion the first option is the "no error" option where the underlined portion is kept as is. In spot the error, option E is the no error option. Don't try to force an error and look for an issue that does not exist. Be prepared for no error questions.

Question. The actress grinned shyly, and continued to eat with her friends, smiling awkwardly.

- A. friends, smiling awkwardly.
- B. friends, smiled awkwardly.
- C. friends, is smiling awkwardly.
- D. friends, smiled awkward.
- E. friends, smilingly awkward.

Answer. B: Even though this sentence sounds awkward, each portion is correct. Furthermore, all the other options sound even worse.

Question. Winning is a great feeling especially if you have had a bad
A B C season with many losses. No Error

- D E

Answer. E: Once again there is no error in this sentence. The gerund is used properly and the clauses all work grammatically.